Warwick Way

BELGRAVIA

5 Bedrooms, 4 Bathrooms
For 10 guests

A thoughtfully reimagined townhouse, where Belgravia's classical elegance meets contemporary design.

Behind a handsome stucco façade on Warwick Way, this five-bedroom house is a testament to Thomas Cubitt's enduring legacy. Recently reimaged, the home has been carefully recalibrated for modern living: period volumes remain intact, while a warm material palette and up-to-date amenities bring the spaces into the present. There's room to spread out across five floors, plus a private patio garden for warm weather gatherings.

The living spaces

On the raised ground floor, a double reception room unfolds beneath lofty ceilings and parquet floors. The first space feels immediately welcoming – ideal for greeting guests or unwinding at the end of the day. Beyond, double doors open into a second reception room. A more intimate snug, it's perfectly suited to film nights, reading or quiet retreat, with the flexibility to open both rooms into one flowing entertaining space.

Kitchen & dining

The lower ground floor is dedicated to everyday living and hosting. A spacious open-plan kitchen and dining area is grounded by warm, earthy tones and expansive marble-effect stone flooring. The kitchen is a well-considered setup for keen cooks, fitted with light shaker cabinetry, a double oven and generous worktops.

To the rear, a separate utility area discreetly houses a washing machine and dryer, with additional counter space ideal for behind-the-scenes prep. Framed by terracotta-toned walls, the dining area seats eight and opens directly onto the enclosed patio.

Bedrooms & bathrooms

The principal suite is a calming setting to rest, finished with warm beige hues and brushed brass accents. A dedicated dressing area leads through to a standout en suite, where gold-veined stone wraps the floors and walls around a freestanding bathtub and separate shower. Four further bedrooms are arranged elsewhere, each continuing the home's calm, restorative palette – from soothing blues to soft, earthy neutrals.

The neighbourhood

Caught between Pimlico and Belgravia, Warwick Way puts you in a prime location to explore Central London's varied offerings.

Immerse yourself in the inimitable department stores of Harvey Nichols and Harrods – world-class destinations for innovative fashion, state-of-the-art technology, and sumptuous artisanal produce – or venture to nearby Chelsea's upmarket high street, the King's Road. There's no shortage of sights for culture-seekers, with Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, The Guards Museum and Tate Britain all within a 20 minute walk. Plus, Victoria Station is on your doorstep for quick transport around the capital and beyond.
